To Whom It May Concern:

It is with pleasure that I write this letter of recommendation for Jaclyn Hahn. Ms. Hahn is currently student teaching Biology and Forensics at West Deptford High School. Although I am a mathematics teacher and Ms. Hahn is not student teaching under my supervision, we have met quite a few times to discuss different classroom management techniques, lesson planning and other teaching styles.

Ms. Hahn has been highly motivated to learn as much as she could and so that she could perform to the best of her ability. She frequently puts in long hours to develop lesson plans and monitor student progress. She asks for feedback regularly and accepts constructive criticism with maturity. In an effort to improve her own teaching abilities, she takes advantage of every opportunity. She observes experienced teachers, actively participates in parent-teacher Zoom conferences, faculty and departmental in-service programs.

Ms. Hahn has several strengths, but her top two strengths are her excellent rapport with students and her ability to be creative. She is sincerely interested in her students' progress and presents new material in a way that captured their attention. She develops differentiated instruction activities as well as incorporates technology into her lessons to keep remote students actively engaged in her lessons.

In summary, Ms. Hahn displays the qualities that make a successful teacher. She is motivated, dependable, confident and knowledgeable. She is in tune with the trends in education and the needs of her students. She works well with colleagues and administration and is able to learn from those around her. I believe that she will continue to grow and become even more effective as a teacher with further opportunities. I am confident that Ms. Hahn will be an asset to any staff that she works with and I highly recommend her for a teaching position.

Sincerely,

Charisse LoPresti
